Air Products Issues Statement in Response to Delaware Court Ruling

LEHIGH VALLEY, Pa. (March 5, 2010) – Air Products (NYSE: APD) today issued the following statement in response to the Delaware Chancery Court’s decision to refuse to disqualify Cravath Swaine & Moore from representing Air Products in relation to its $60.00 per share all cash offer for Airgas (NYSE:ARG):

“We are pleased that the Delaware court has refused to disqualify Cravath from representing Air Products. From the beginning, this has been a side show to divert attention from the real issue—the continuing effort by Airgas to block its shareholders from receiving a 38% all-cash premium and immediate liquidity for their shares. Airgas has wasted shareholders’ time and money pursuing baseless litigation and losing arguments before three separate courts. Rather than acting as responsible fiduciaries and meeting with us to discuss our offer, the Airgas Board has continued to permit management to ‘just say no’ to our compelling offer while offering only the vague promise that Airgas shareholders will receive greater value ‘simply with the passage of time.’ Air Products remains committed to taking all necessary steps to complete our $60.00 per share all-cash offer, and we urge Airgas shareholders to demand the independent directors of Airgas form a Special Committee, advised by independent advisors, that will objectively evaluate our offer and uphold their fiduciary duties to Airgas shareholders.”

Air Products (NYSE:APD) serves customers in industrial, energy, technology and healthcare markets worldwide with a unique portfolio of atmospheric gases, process and specialty gases, performance materials, and equipment and services. Founded in 1940, Air Products has built leading positions in key growth markets such as semiconductor materials, refinery hydrogen, home healthcare services, natural gas liquefaction, and advanced coatings and adhesives. The company is recognized for its innovative culture, operational excellence and commitment to safety and the environment. In fiscal 2009, Air Products had revenues of $8.3 billion, operations in over 40 countries, and 18,900 employees around the globe. For more information, visit: www.airproducts.com.
