A Message from John McGlade: Air Products' Increased $65.50 Per Share All-Cash Offer for Airgas and Other Developments

This update is being distributed via e-mail while the APOnline homepage and CorpNEWS applications undergo a scheduled and announced migration. Homepage updates and the normal CorpNEWS publication schedule will resume on Monday, September 13.

There has been a lot of activity and publicity recently around our offer to acquire Airgas. I thought it would be helpful to get a note out to you that puts these announcements in context and provides some insight as to our next steps.

On Monday afternoon (September 6), we announced that we increased our offer for Airgas to $65.50 per share in cash. We also reiterated that we stand ready to close a deal quickly if the Airgas Board will agree to sit down and negotiate with us. A copy of the press release we issued can be found here: www.airproducts.com/PressRoom/CompanyNews/Archived/2010/06Sep2010.htm.

As part of this news, we announced that we will withdraw our offer if Airgas shareholders do not elect the Air Products nominees and approve our by-law proposals at the September 15 Airgas annual meeting. It's important to us to have a firm deadline with respect to this opportunity, and we have provided Airgas shareholders with a clear path to completing a transaction. We remain confident that Airgas shareholders will make the right choice and support our director nominees and all of our proposals at next Wednesday's meeting.

Late Wednesday night (September 8), we were pleased to receive the endorsement of Institutional Shareholder Services (ISS) for all three Air Products director nominees to the Airgas Board (ISS is one of the leading independent proxy voting and corporate governance advisory firms who recommend voting positions to shareholders). They said they believe our $65.50 per share offer for Airgas was a "compelling starting point for negotiation," and we couldn't agree more. The three independent nominees put forward by Air Products are highly qualified and will add much-needed perspective to the incumbent Airgas Board as this opportunity continues to unfold.

While ISS did not recommend voting for our proposal calling for a January 2011 annual meeting of Airgas, we believe in the end, the economic interests of the Airgas shareholders will help drive their decision to cast their votes in favor of our proposals so that this process can come to a speedy resolution.

Lastly, on Thursday (September 9), the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) accepted our Consent Decree in connection with our proposed acquisition of Airgas. With this development, there are no hurdles to completing a transaction with Airgas, other than the current Airgas Board's unwillingness to negotiate.

As we have throughout this process, we continue to remain disciplined and mindful of our responsibilities to Air Products' shareholders, and we are confident that acquiring Airgas at a fair and reasonable price will create significant value for shareholders, which I know means most of you. Even with our recent price increase, an acquisition of Airgas remains accretive to our earnings, meaning that it will contribute positively to earnings by the first year.

We are continuing to execute well on our current underlying growth and return improvement plans and look forward to adding an acquisition of Airgas to the many opportunities in front of us. With or without Airgas, we are very well-positioned for continued success, and we have your hard work to thank for that. Our goals of 17% margin and double-digit earnings per share (EPS) are within reach.

In the meantime, I encourage you to stay focused on our commitment to safety and serving our customers well. I want to personally thank you for your continued focus, hard work and dedication.

We will continue to keep you informed as new developments occur, and you can also visit www.airproducts.com/airgasoffer for the latest updates.
