CorpNews Bulletin/EMAIL Blast

A Message from John McGlade:

I wanted to update you on a busy week of events. First, on Thursday morning we announced strong fiscal third quarter earnings results. A copy of our third quarter earnings press release can be found here: www.airproducts.com/PressRoom/CompanyNews/Archived/2010/fy10q3.htm.

As you may have heard on the conference call we hosted Thursday with investors, we were pleased with our performance this past quarter. Our sales increased 14 percent to $2,252 million, with underlying sales up 12 percent. Our Tonnage, Merchant, and Electronics and Performance Materials businesses had significant increases in volume this quarter. Third quarter operating income and earnings per share rose 22 percent from the prior year. Importantly, our operating margin improved to 16.6%, and we remain on track to deliver on our 17% goal in fiscal 2011. These continued improvements in margin, earnings growth and return on capital show that we remain focused on delivering the value our shareholders expect.

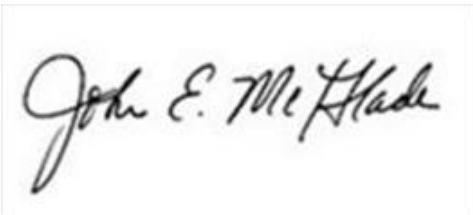

We also announced this week several significant new orders. We were selected by Pucheng Clean Energy Company in Weinan, Shaanxi Province, China to build, own and operate three air separation plants producing over 8,200 tons per day of Oxygen and 3,100 tons per day of Nitrogen. We will also produce liquid products for the merchant market in the region. On Wednesday, we announced two major orders from Samsung in Austin Texas in support of their 300mm fab expansion. These new wins indicate that the economy is recovering and that our project backlog remains strong.

Along with a gradually recovering economy, these impressive quarterly results show the benefits of our restructuring actions and our focus on continuous improvement. Our steady improvements in margin and earnings growth exemplify your dedication and hard work over the past few years. Looking ahead, Air Products is well positioned to serve our broad customer base and we have multiple attractive growth opportunities around the world that we are excited to pursue.

In addition to our earnings report this week, on Wednesday Airgas announced that they had rejected our increased all-cash $63.50 per share offer. We were disappointed that the Airgas Board rejected our revised offer without engaging with us, as we made clear in our press release responding to their rejection which can be found here: www.airproducts.com/PressRoom/CompanyNews/Archived/2010/21Jul2010c.htm and in our letter to Airgas shareholders here: www.airproducts.com/PressRoom/CompanyNews/Archived/2010/22Jul2010b.htm.

Airgas used its recent earnings as part of its reason for rejecting our increased offer, but there was nothing in Airgas' financial performance or outlook that has changed our view of the company's intrinsic value. We remain confident that our $63.50 all-cash offer exceeds the value Airgas could produce in the future through execution of their current business plan even under optimistic scenarios. We also remain confident that we will have strong support from Airgas shareholders with respect to our offer and will be able to complete this transaction in a timely fashion despite the actions of the Airgas Board. For more information on the transaction, you can also visit www.airproducts.com/airgasoffer.

Thank you for your contributions to Air Products this quarter and throughout the year—we should be very proud of our results. I am sure I can count on you to deliver going forward. I, along with the rest of the management team, remain excited and energized by the many opportunities we have around the world. We are in a good position for the future.

John McGlade
Chairman, President and CEO
